ST. VALENTINE'S DAY.

For the Gazette.

The world was made and round it thrown By hand divine this ambient air, With various life the earth was sown And myriad nature all so fair Sprung forth at the Almighte's voice. And man created lord of all; Nor did the Monarch's heart rejoice Alone to sway this mighty ball.

A yourning, fond unquenched desire Sought still in vain for hap ness here. Till God in pity to our sire Sent Eve his lot to bless and cheer: A roving, joyless, bapless youth, Long have I missed that boon sivine. Till Bessie's charms, her beauty, truth, With love inspired her Valentine.
